3. What is a typographic outcome?

A typographic project outcome refers to the final result or product of a typographic design project. This could include printed materials such as posters, flyers, brochures, or digital designs such as website layouts, social media graphics, or digital advertisements. It can take a form of a packaging, graffiti, or a birthday balloon — as long as the format suits the idea.

General form — A1 poster, presented in a digital mockup, or printed in actual size. Many ideas may exist in many other forms, that suit the message better. Do not be a slave of a page, feel free to explore all the available methods of text reproduction and presentation.
